

GUIDE TO COLLEGE AND CAREER ACADEMIES FOR JUAN A. STUDENT

DC Public Schools wants to prepare students for college, career pathways, and life after high school. Did you know your in-boundary school Anacostia High School offers hands-on options for career and college prep?

ANACOSTIA

The mission at Anacostia is to empower students to rethink systems and structures by promoting integrity, social equity, and economic prosperity for all learners through challenging, hands-on, collaborative learning experiences.

CAREER ACADEMIES AT ANACOSTIA HIGH SCHOOL

Civil Engineering

Career-Ready Internship
Professional Certification Opportunities

Public Leadership

Career-Ready Internship
Professional Certification Opportunities

OTHER SUPPORTS

Workforce Development Coordinator - Provides counseling to students with disabilities on opportunities for enrollment in postsecondary education programs and work-based learning.

Job Placement Specialist - Instructs students in job seeking and job retention skills, and develops work opportunities for students with disabilities.

Job Placement Specialist

*Want to learn about college and career academies at other DCPS high schools?
Learn more on the back of this page.*

WHAT IS A COLLEGE AND CAREER ACADEMY?

A college and career academy is a small learning community within a high school that provides hands-on career training and college readiness. Students in career academies get access to paid internships, career mentoring, and can graduate with certifications that make it easier for them to find a career after high school or college.

PAID
INTERNSHIPS

CAREER MENTORING

GRADUATE WITH CERTIFICATIONS

Want to take the Career Exploration Survey? Login to Naviance to find the survey and get your results! Go to bit.ly/NavianceLogin for instructions.

GUIDE TO COLLEGE AND CAREER ACADEMIES FOR JUAN A. STUDENT

In DC Public Schools, every student is automatically eligible to attend their in-boundary school and the school that is next in their middle school feeder pattern. Students can also apply to other schools across the District of Columbia. This guide features DCPS high schools that have College and Career Academies, but there are other options, including high schools with college prep and early college programming. Visit enrolldcps.dc.gov to learn about all DCPS high schools.

SCHOOL	COLLEGE AND CAREER ACADEMIES
 Anacostia High School	Public Leadership; Civil Engineering
 Ballou High School	Culinary Arts; Hospitality and Tourism; Computer & Information Technology; Automotive Technology
 Cardozo Education Campus	Computer Science; Engineering; Electro-Mechanical Engineering
 Columbia Heights Education Campus	Early Childhood Education; Bilingual Translation/Education; Hospitality and Tourism; Computer Science; Engineering
 Coolidge High School	Mass Media; Health Sciences
 Dunbar High School	Engineering
 Eastern High School	Health Sciences
 H.D. Woodson High School	Computer Science and Digital Media; Finance; Engineering
 McKinley Tech	Digital Media; Biotechnology; Computer Science; Engineering
 Phelps ACE	Architecture; Carpentry; Electrical; HVAC; Engineering
 Roosevelt High School	Culinary Arts; Foreign Service & Diplomacy
 Wilson High School	Hospitality and Tourism

»» WHAT'S NEXT?

If you're interested in applying to an out-of-boundary school, see the My School DC application process, which typically opens in early December.

If you're interested in attending your in-boundary or destination school, enrollment begins in April of each year! Many schools have Open Houses for you to learn more about what the school offers. Go to enrolldcps.dc.gov.

Find out more about College and Career Programs in DC Public Schools: dcpscollegeandcareer.org